(Tous les champs doivent être obligatoirement remplis)

1 - Localisation de la formation :

Faculté (ou Institut) : Lettres et Langues
Département : Lettres et Langues Étrangères

2- Partenaires de la formation *:

- Partenaires internationaux :

* = Présenter les conventions en annexe de la formation

3 – Contexte et objectifs de la formation

A – Conditions d'accès (indiquer les spécialités de licence qui peuvent donner accès au Master)

Licence LMD Bac + 3 = 180 Crédits

Licence Classique Bac+4

Nature de formation: Formation diplômante

Domaines Langue et littérature étrangères, Anglais

B - Objectifs de la formation (compétences visées, connaissances pédagogiques acquises à l'issue de la formation- maximum 20 lignes)

- 1) Explore areas as far removed as TEFL/TESL, Translation Studies, Discourse Analysis, Evaluation/Assessment, ESP... Given that near-to-similar modules to the ones above are currently tackled within graduation phase, the board of lecturers have judged it worthy to extend the study thereof onto the Master program for intensive treatment.
- 2) Funnel their learning to focus on the applicability of whatever theoretical amount of knowledge they are expected to master. This outlook is entertained with the express intent of our Department to meet the requirement pertaining to the end product that the LMD system mainly targets.
- 3) Access a stage where they depart from the common belief in the self-containedness of specialties. Such modules as Didactics is commonly known as a field dealing exclusively with the implementations of teaching methods or techniques; Linguistics is either theoretical or applied; literature could hardly be connected to Discourse Studies. Applied Linguistics then aims at empowering the would-be Master degree holders to be able to :
  - a) Pull together bits of information in order to make of them a coherent set.
  - b) Conceive of the coherent set of information as a framework of knowledge.

(a) and (b) above allow the students to reach awareness of the intra-disciplinary frames of knowledge.

c) Deal with the different branches that fall under Applied Linguistics as complementary units potentially powerful to benefit interdisciplinarity. The ability to fruitfully move from a frame of knowledge to another is a skill that our Department wishes to help the future Master holders to acquire.

With (1), (2), (3) and (4, a b c) in sight, the Department of Foreign Languages intends to set up an Applied Linguistics-based program meant to spawn graduates that enjoy a certain professional mobility likely to cover some of the interdisciplinary gaps. As a consequence, this program could incidentally make up for the shortage repeatedly observed in some fine-tuned specialties, ESP is a case in point.

C – Profils et compétences métiers visés (en matière d'insertion professionnelle - maximum 20 lignes) :

In view of the exit profile sought by a good number of programs throughout many Departments of English in Algeria, we, the board of lecturers of the Department of Foreign Languages, were given to notice that a narrow scope was left for extended research beyond Master studies. The choice made of Applied Linguistics as an overarching line of study is motivated by the need to supply the would-be holders of Master degrees with wider possibilities.

Students will acquire skills in teaching, translation and communication. This would enhance their employability and strengthen their profiles.

D- Potentialités régionales et nationales d'employabilité des diplômés

The strategic position of Medea being near the capital and the Metidja Industrial Region boosts its potential for employability. Students would be able to choose between a number of offers, to name a few: Teaching in public and private sector, working in foreign and international companies, working in embassies and consulates, working in translation offices, etc.

E – Passerelles vers d'autres spécialités

Students would easily shift to other specialties including translation studies, communication and languages.

F – Indicateurs de suivi de la formation

Students will be monitored all along the training. Ongoing assessment plays an important role in this particular training and students are continuously boosted to give their best. Research papers, presentations, articles and participation in the academic life would be all indicators.

G – Capacité d'encadrement (donner le nombre d'étudiants qu'il est possible de prendre en charge)

The training should include no more than 30 students

4 – Moyens humains disponibles
